

W
FILE SUBJ.
DATE SUB-CAT.
OCT 68

U.S., NEW ZEALAND TO CONTINUE AGGRESSION

Moscow TASS International Service in English 1029 GMT 11 Oct 68 L

[Text] Washington--Correspondent Artem Melikyan dispatch--The United States and New Zealand will continue their war against the Vietnamese people and increase interference in the affairs of other countries in the Pacific area. This is the gist of a communique issued here Thursday, after the 2-day talks of Prime Minister Holyoake of New Zealand with government leaders in the United States.

The United States and its partner in the Vietnam war come out in favor of preserving a "strong military position" in South Vietnam. Moreover, the authors of the joint communique declare the intention to continue in the role of policemen in regard to national liberation movements in the Pacific area, under the guise of "cooperation between the countries of this area" and by creating "regional groupings." The United States and New Zealand also call for strengthening the aggressive military ANZUS bloc.

Speaking yesterday at a press conference, the New Zealand Prime Minister expressed full solidarity with the U.S. role of policeman in the Pacific area. Not only did he support Washington's adventurist foreign policy course, but maintained that "peace in Vietnam cannot end the concern of the United States and New Zealand over the future of Southeast Asia."

Holyoake supported the persistent refusal of the U.S. administration to completely stop the bombings of the North Vietnam. He also gave assurances that New Zealand will meet all its commitments in the ANZUS and SEATO blocs. At the same time, the Prime Minister expressed dissatisfaction with Washington's foreign trade policy and described the United States as the "most protectionist" state. He said the United States was restricting imports of agricultural produce from New Zealand--such as meat, dairy products, and wool--in its market.

The results of the New Zealand Prime Minister's visit to the United States reaffirmed that the government of that small country is quite willing to timidly continue in the wake of the aggressive U.S. policy.