Ba Ria-Long Khanh Victories

Liberation Radio [Clandestine] in Vietnamese to Europe 1900 GMT 17 Apr 75 SG

[Text] After 2 days of continually encircling, cutting off and attacking the units of the 52D battle group, the puppet 18th division, one by one, at 1800 hours on 15 April the PLAF of Ba Ria-Long Khanh completely annihilated this battlegroup, seizing many weapons and military equipment.

On 16 April, the local armed forces attacked, overran and took complete control of the Tuc Trung vital area on Route No 20, killing many enemy troops and seizing many weapons.

Panicked by the attacks of the liberation armed forces, the enemy troops in the Kiem Tan military subsector, also on Route No 20, hastily fled.

As of 16 April, the people and armed forces of Ba Ria-Long Khanh fully controlled Route No 20 from Dau Gia road junction to Dalat.

Responding to the appeal of the revolution and clearly realizing the imminent total collapse of the Nguyen Van Thieu regime, 90 puppet soldiers stationed in Binh Loc hamlet, 2 kms northwest of Xuan Loc city, returned to the people with hundreds of rifles.

Binh Thuan PLAF Victories Reported

Hanoi in Vietnamese to Vietnam 1300 GMT 17 Apr 75 SG

[Text] According to LPA, after the destruction of the Thien Giao military subsector and district town, the armed forces and people in Binh Thuan Province conducted repeated attacks and uprisings from 10 to 12 April, overrunning many puppet military positions in Tuy Phong and Ham Thuan districts and putting many enemy personnel out of action.

The Binh Thuan armed forces and people destroyed the enemy coercive apparatus in the Thuan Phong area and regained control of Tan Dien hamlet in Ham Lien village, 6 kilometers north of Phan Thiet city, and the portion of Highway 1 in Tuy Phong district.

Many puppet troops responded to the revolution's appeal by returning to the people's side with their weapons.

Frightened by the vigorous attacks and uprisings, the Thieu clique had its aircraft mistakenly bomb the puppet 230th Civil Guard Battalion, killing or wounding many enemy personnel.
