

31 Dec 71

After an all day wait at Phu Bai I got on a plane for Saigon. The plane was a big four engine C-130 cargo plane. It took 1:15 to cross Vietnam.

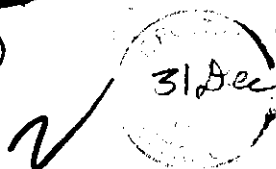

I am now at Tan Son Nhut Airport. This is one of the biggest airports in the world. I feel like I am back in the states.

The weather this far south is a lot hotter than the Hue area. It is night at this time so I can't tell you much more.

I believe I will start trying to find my new unit. I will send you my new address tomorrow.
