Thanks for the additional info. (Is Jigs on-line?) I am at Rehoboth Beach so

I don't have my "Jar" file. However, according to officials at Langley and those I contacted at the Smithsonian the jar is in a warehouse in MD. It is crated and weighs approximately 1,800 lbs. They faxed me the other specs as well. It was labled "a gift of Vang Pao to the American People". I have applied for permission to go and check it out in a couple of weeks. Will try to take a photo and let you know what I find.

Given the state of relations and the manner of gift I think this "Jar" subject is probably quite sensitive. I am avoiding its discussion and hope that a negative impact issue does not result if it hits the spotlight the future.
