INDONESIA WILL RECOGNIZE ANY GOVERNMENT IN S. VIETNAM

Djakarta Domestic Service in Indonesian 1200 GMT 25 Oct 72 D

[Text] Indonesia will recognize any type of government in South Vietnam, which is born out of current efforts made to end the war in that region. At a meeting with the press today, Foreign Minister Adam Malik expressed the opinion that the United States is more serious in seeking a solution to the Vietnam war than in other matters which are related to the presidential election in that country. The minister noted several similarities in the current efforts being made to seek a settlement in the Vietnam war and an ASEAN proposal designed to end the conflict in that region, such as the subjects of cease-fire and the release of prisoners of war.
