(3) Counter-Intelligence: Support is provided by local MI units plus inspections by 16th MP Gp and 18th MP Bde G-2s.

- (4) Intelligence Spot Reports processed - 87
- (5) Security Actions processed - 84

e. Communication and COMSEC Activities:

(1) In July 1971, a military police administrative net operating on 69.00 MHz was established in MR I allowing any one with an FM radio to contact military police for assistance or to report an accident or other incidents. This net requires units to call military police by using the name of the local city/town plus the word military police.

(2) Due to parts not being available at support maintenance level, this battalion has experienced a high rate of deadline radio equipment. One contributing factor is that support maintenance must hold equipment for 90 days before they can send it on to the next echelon for repair when they do not have the parts or capability for repairs. This has impaired the units communication capability.

(3) Number of RTT messages processed during the period of 1 Nov thru 30 Apr 71 - 4400 compared to 3524 messages for the current period 1 May thru 31 Oct 71. The following is a breakdown by month for the current period:

As a purchase was effected, the National Police deployed from the M-113, confiscated the evidence, apprehended the subjects and searched the immediate area for additional marijuana or narcotics.

d Weather was not a factor in this operation.

(d) Combined Police Raid of Wooded Area East of the Sacred Heart Orphanage was conducted on 31 Aug 71.

1 Mission: To secure the wooded area east of the Sacred Heart Orphanage, apprehend all VC/VN personnel in the area and confiscate all marijuana and narcotics found on their person or in the area.

(3) Force Development: Effective 30 Jun 71, the 595th MP Co (SD) was reorganized under ATO&E 19-500EP518. The major adjustment was updating of equipment and deleting of 2 lieutenants, MOS 09110, MP.

(4) Organizations: On 17 Aug 71, the 595th MP Co (SD) was relocated from East DaNang (China Beach) to Camp David Land bringing all units of the 504th MP Bn located in the DaNang area together on one compound. Kennels and support facilities at Camp Land had been used to house the US Marine Dogs prior to withdrawal of the US Marines.

(5) Training: In accordance with the new Department of the Army training policy, training was adjusted to comply with the new policy. Emphasis has been directed to those topics most relevant to the mission. Due to current mission, long working hours, and the lack of facilities, classroom training on a regular basis has not been practical.

(6) Logistics: In general logistical support was adequate for sustained operation. The only problem area encountered was with maintenance support for radio equipment and motor vehicles.

2. (U) Lesson-Learned: Commander's Observation, Evaluation and Recommendations

a. Personnel

(1) Replacement Personnel:

(a) Observation: The efficiency of the personnel section is hampered by the inability to program officer and enlisted replacements.

(b) Evaluation: The battalion receives replacements with little or no advance notice. In cases of a large number of personnel arriving at the same time, the proper assignment and utilization cannot be given the degree of attention required due to the lack of billeting space for the replacements at the battalion. This situation results in hurried processing and assignment of these individuals.

(c) Recommendations: That when possible furnish the battalion with advanced information on the assignment of personnel to the battalion, preferably in the form of an advance print out.

(2) Shortage of Supply Personnel:

(a) Observations: The shortage of qualified supply personnel has resulted in numerous time consuming and mission hampering problems.

(b) Evaluation: The battalion has had to operate with less than authorized personnel both in MOS and grade for over one year. Consequently the supply sergeant slots are being filled by SP4's and E-5's with inadequate experience or job knowledge. Unit supply rooms operations have been required by necessity to function at a lower level of performance which is not in keeping with the high standards of readiness demanded in a combat zone.

(e) Recommendations: That an effort be made in the assignment of qualified supply personnel to units with existing shortage.

b. Intelligence: None.

c. Operations:

(1) Military Police and Confrontations:

(a) Observation: Military Police investigative patrols are often put in fear of their life at the scene of incidents which result in confrontations with the local populace.

(b) Evaluation: Investigation of the accidents, protection of US property and personnel falls under the responsibilities of the military police. The VN/American confrontations have become increasingly volatile situations in the recent months. Military police patrols have been firebombed, fired upon, beaten and threatened with grenades by VN at the scene of confrontations. The military policemen are to a great extent dependent upon the VN police for protection from the populace.

(c) Recommendations: That the policy for making solatium payments be reviewed. The VN at the scene of a traffic accident will seldom cooperate without being paid off by a solatium payment. If they were made aware of the fact that solatium payments would not be made if US government personnel were harmed or property were damaged, perhaps the VN would become less violent at the scene of a confrontation.

d. Organization: None

e. Training:

(1) Guard Mount Training

(a) Observation: Guard mount training has proven to be an effective locus of training military policemen.

(b) Evaluation: Due to present mission commitments, training has primarily oriented towards guard mount training. Discussion groups are the most effective means of training in race relations and drug abuse but guard mount training serves very well for concise reinforcement training at frequent intervals.

(c) Recommendations: That guard mount training in military police units be continued as a training vehicle in addition to formal classroom training.

(d) Command Action: The command has reviewed the guard mount training and found it to be beneficial enough to be adopted as an integral part of the Battalion Training Program.

f. Logistics:

(1) Direct Support Maintenance of Military Police Units

(a) Observation: Direct support maintenance units are not responsive enough to provide adequate maintenance to operating military police units.

(b) Evaluation: The down time for $\frac{1}{2}$ ton vehicles and AN/VRC 46 radios turned in for higher echelon maintenance was prohibitive. Consequently, units were hesitant to turn any items in to DS maintenance facilities and in order to continue to meet commitments unit were forced to "scrounge" and borrow the necessary parts.

(c) Recommendations: That an inquiry be made to ascertain the availability of parts to determine if more effective direct support maintenance can be obtained for the military police units.

g. Communications:

(1) Long Range Communications

(a) Observation: Radio communications available to the 504th MP Bn do not have the long range communications capability required for effective police coverage of the battalion's area of operations.

(b) Evaluation: The 504th MP Bn has responsibility for an area of operation approximately 240 miles north to south and 83 miles east to west. The size of the area of operations has presented radio communications between military police operations and military police patrolling QL-1.

(c) Recommendations: Radio communications with the capabilities of a GRC-106 would afford the battalion effective communications throughout MR 1. This could be used as a command net between the battalion headquarters, sub-elements and critical relay sites, where trained operators would be available. This would allow information to be passed to the relay sites by AN/VRC-46 for relay to the patrol's headquarters by using AN/VRC-106.

1. (U) The 504th Military Police Battalion's ORLL for the semi-annual reporting period ending 31 October 1971 is submitted.

2. (U) The inclosed report has been reviewed and is considered adequate.
The following comments refer to the referenced sections of the report:

a. Reference para 1f: Operations and activities should have been reported in chronological order as required in AR 525-15. Unit has been notified.

b. Reference para 1f(5): Last sentence should read: "It has been learned through experience that guard mount training is a practical way of giving training to personnel performing military police duties under current conditions."

c. Reference para 2a(1): Concur. The advance notice of both officer and enlisted replacements would simplify the reception of incoming personnel and provide greater flexibility in assignment procedures.

d. Reference para 2a(2): Concur, however, this headquarters has no control over this assignment problem.

e. Reference para 2a(1): Nonconcur. Solutum payments are made to individuals who have suffered a loss or injury, and although the perpetrator of violence at a confrontation maybe the recipient, this may not always be the case. Procedures should be established to make solutum payments away from the scene of the incident and only after a time lapse of 24 hours.

f. Reference para 2a(1): Concur. When kept short and concise, guard mount training is an effective vehicle for Commanders and Provost Marshals to meet training requirements or to pass-on information of a pertinent nature.

g. Reference para 2f(1): Concur. Down time for vehicles requiring major components is 45 to 60 days. The operational mission coupled with the present shortage of 1/4 ton trucks (31) within the 50th Military Police Battalion makes the length of down time unacceptable.

viding adequate radio communication throughout their AO utilizing, when

1. Comments on Significant Activities: None.

2. Comments on Lessons Learned:

a. Page 13, para 2a(1), Replacement Personnel: Concur. Lack of advance notice concerning replacement personnel adversely affects the local personnel management program. However, under the present system, the final assignment for these personnel cannot be determined until the individual's arrival in RVN. Due to the present situation of rapid withdrawals and last minute diversions of replacement personnel; this problem is further magnified.

b. Page 13, 2a(2), Shortage of Supply Personnel: Concur.

c. Page 14, para 2c(1), Military Police and Confrontations: Nonconcur. As a matter of custom and USARV command policy, solatium payments are made as a gesture of friendship and good will. However, the utilization of Combined Police Patrols at the scenes of accidents/incidents has proven invaluable in dispersing and reducing the seriousness of confrontations. This command highly stresses Combined Police Patrols at all accident/incident scenes off US controlled installations.

2. Additional comment follows:

Reference item concerning Logistics, paragraph 2f, page 15. Delays in DS maintenance are most generally the result of lack of repair parts. Availability of repair parts is directly contingent upon sufficient demand data. "Scrounging" and borrowing repair parts does not generate demand data and therefore leads to parts shortage and delays in maintenance. Adherence to established procedures and improvements in the supply system now being implemented should result in considerable improvement.
