I was intrigued to read, in the posting by Le Van Huy, the reference to Stephen Heder as the world's leading authority on the Khmers Rouges. I too have been struck by the frequent citation of Stephen Heder in the western media --- not only the New York Times and FEER. I was wondering if any readers of this list know anything more about Stephen Heder. What books or articles has he published? What position does he have at the University of London?

This is an innocent request for information from a young political scientist --- a comparativist --- who wants to learn more about Cambodia and the Khmers Rouges.
