1. Operation Lincoln.

2. Control or command headquarters: 2d Battalion, 9th Artillery attached to 3d Brigade, 25th Inf Div. 3d Brigade under operational control 1st Air Cav Div for Operation Lincoln.

3. Dates of operation: 311200 Mar 66 to 071200 Apr 66 at which time this unit returned to base camp.

4. Location: 3d Brigade base moved from Buon Brieng to Duc Co for Operation Lincoln. From there the units operated generally to the north and east of Chu Pong mountain.

5. Intelligence: During this units participation in Operation Lincoln very little intelligence was obtained, the only significant activity was an encounter on the Cambodian border of a small force in bunkers.

6. Mission: 3d Brigade, 25th Inf Div conducted search and destroy operations in assigned area of operations.

7. Execution:

a. Operations:

(1) On 31 Mar 66 the 2d Battalion, 9th Artillery moved from Buon Brieng with the 3d Brigade to Duc Co. This move was made by convoy less Btry A elements which moved to Duc Co by CH 47.

(2) On 1 Apr 66, Btry A moved by CH 47 to YA 802080 to support search and destroy operations by the 1/14th Inf near the Cambodian border. In this position A Btry and 1/14th Inf received approximately 60 mortar rounds on the morning of 3 Apr 66 causing 1 KIA and 3 WIA from this battalion. Counter mortar fire was immediately returned in the general azimuth from which the rounds were fired and no further mortaring was received. However no positive results could be determined. ARA was requested and was on station in approximately 20 minutes but was not used because target could not be identified.

8. Commanders:

- a. Battalion Commander: Lt Col Saul A Jackson.
- b. HH&S Btry: Capt Carl Morin.
- c. A Btry: Capt John Ferguson Jr.
- d. B Btry: Capt Frederick Rice.
- e. C Btry: Capt John Oliver.

9. Task organization: 2d Battalion, 9th Artillery was direct support 3d Brigade, 25th Inf Div for entire operation. 3d Brigade was under operational control 1st Air Cav Div from 311200 Mar 66 to 071200 Apr 66.

10. Narrative summary:

a. Most of the artillery firing during our participation in Operation Lincoln were H&I's, preparations and heavy firing against a bunker area which was our only significant target.

b. The VT fuzes were used primarily on LZ preparations and a mixture of PD and delay fuzes were used in the tree line surrounding the LZ's. All of the time fuzes were used as either PD or for firing direct fire around a position area.

c. Smoke was fired as the last round of a preparation to indicate to the Air Force and Army Aviation that the artillery preparation was finished. It was also used as the initial round on close in fires, particularly defensive concentrations.

d. White phosphorous were used on H&I's with the intention of starting fires along likely routes. It was never used on preparation to insure that fires were not started.

11. Supporting forces:

a. Aerial rocket artillery was requested 030200 Apr 66 because of mortar firing at A Btry position (YA802080). Aircraft were at the location in approximately 20 minutes. No rounds were expended at this time because the mortars could not be located.

b. Air support:

12. Results:

- a. Enemy loses (from artillery).
 - (1) KIA (BC): Four (4).
 - (2) WIA: Six (6).
 - (3) Structures: Seventeen (17).
 - (4) Bunkers: Seven (7).
 - (5) Secondary explosions: Two (2).

b. Friendly loses (artillery unit).

- (1) KIA: one (1).
- (2) WIA: Three (3).

NOTE: All loses were combat casualties caused by incoming mortar rounds vic coordinates YA 302080.

13. Administrative matters:

- a. Maintenance: Continuous technical inspections and command emphasis on maintenance resulted in all surface moves being completed without any breakdown of vehicles.

- b. Transportation: Temporary use of CH 47's greatly increased our mobility and the transition was easily accomplished due to the outstanding support from the 228th Transportation Battalion.

- c. Communications: A "scrambler" was temporarily loaned to this unit for Operation Lincoln but could not be used due to technical difficulties.

14. Special equipment and techniques: Although this unit does not have sufficient nets and slings to air lift the batteries externally the batteries were able to move internally by CH 47. We found that it is not difficult for a conventional 105mm howitzer battery to move sufficient personnel and equipment by air and perform its primary mission for a sustained period.

15. Commanders' analysis.

This operation was our first experience in Vietnam in working with a headquarters other than the Brigade to which the battalion is attached. (Even though it was for a very short period it was a profitable experience which indicated the professional competence of members of the 1st Air Cav Div Arty.) The cooperation and assistance that we received was outstanding. Lending us the Beehive round for the operation was only one indication of this support. It was our first opportunity to use aerial rocket artillery and we were impressed with its responsiveness and fire power. To the best of our knowledge there were no problems encountered in fire control, fire request or reporting. (✓)

16. Statistical data.

a. Artillery ammunition expenditures: 2123 HE, 35 Ill, 186 WP, 44 Smoke.

b. Fuzes: 1207 PD, 412 Delay, 142 Time, and 362 CVT.

c. Missions by type: Preparation - 3; TOT - 3; H&I - 323; live targets - 4; other - 65; Total - 398.
