Joe can begin his intro by saying something like:

"To begin with my colleagues and I wish to acknowledge the financial support of the Dow and Monsanto companies for our research into the original work supporting these papers. At the same time, please note that we are solely responsible for the scope of the studies and the findings, and any conclusions drawn from these investigations."

My point is that while we acknowledge financial help from the clients we also want to make it clear that we alone decided what to say and how to say it! Joe's intro seems the logical point to bring it up. What do you both think?
