

Day-Time... BY BOB DAY

Now after having struck out for a couple of weeks and having someone pinch-hit for us, we are back on the job, and will try to bring you the latest happenings at the ol' State U. From all indications it looks as if this spring will hatch a bumper crop of bigger and better parties.

The famous Champaign spring monsoons have again hit the campus, and it seems as if the picnic season will be in full swing before many more weeks, so avoid the last minute rush and pick your picnic partner early.

MAN of the Week

by
CHET GRAY

Every once in a while I get tired of writing about someone who has been in this play and that activity, that I like to get hold of someone who is just a good guy and party boy. So this week the funny man from Theta Delta Chi, the one and only Jack Sydow takes the lime light as the man of the week.

Jack's chief claim to fame is that he likes beer, beer, beer, and every once in a while a little beer. A noble diversion that has made him well known and well liked on Campus. Jack says that he's serious enough about this studying business, but that it should n't interfere with ones education. The picture at the left is typical of Jack, he always has his mouth open, either for talking, eating or drinking.

The only think that Jack doesn't like about this University of Illinois is that the sorority front halls aren't big enough. Of late he has been dating Donna Brehm, Jackie Green, and Marg. Matheson, so you AOPi's, Chi O's, and Tri Delt's take notice and have your front halls enlarged just to please Jack. When quizzed on the subject of dancing he replied, "Sorority dances are all right if you like dancing --and then there are fraternity dances.

For a little outside fun he has messed around with the 608 Club Show and the Minstral Show. Many of you will no doubt remember Jack as the one who sang I Want A Man in the last Minstral Show.

Jack hails from that thriving town of Rockford Ill. and at the present time is in Lay Around and Sleep School. However, he soon hopes to enter the School of Journalism and then he'll really find out how much studying there is to do around this place.

Always ready with a quip of some sort he is the life of any party and a guy that knows how to keep things going. His favorite motto is Vice is Nice and he has been having a heck of a good time trying to live up to it.----- So once again we have dug deep into the bag of campus blOOCS and come up with a big hit as usual.

Sally Jean Turner, Kappa, celebrated her year anniversary with her pin man Johnny Hayes, Phi Delt, last Saturday night, another example of a long and happy romance after a quick pin-hanging.

One of the Heather triumvirate, Sally plans a career of establishing dress shops. Besides her experience gained from selling to campus shoppers, Sally models for Carson Fire Scott and Co., Chicago, in whose college shop she will work this summer, she hopes. Incidentally, gals, after this season the majority of better wool skirts and dresses will not be on the market, for the government will confiscate excess supplies for army use. Designers have taken their last fling at full skirts as evidenced by the full pleated spring styles, before material is rationed like sugar.

Despite occasional sieges with a plaster cast, the blonde genius to the left has maintained an all-university average of 4.5. Aside from her interest in her French major, Sally digests books on advanced geology and anthropology as a hobby! This summer, before she starts on the payroll of a college shop, Sally will enroll in a summer school course of anthropology at Northwestern.

As a sophomore Sally activitied in Woman's League, Star Course, Shi-A1, and was a member of the Sophomore Cotillion Court. This year she was a leader of a freshman discussion group at the Y.W.C.A. and chairman of production of the Y's Doll Show. This Thursday Sally's name will appear on the Y's ballot for vice-presidency.

Johnny Hayes, pin man, has followed in Sally's footsteps. Last week he and Bob Day, Deke, made such excellent sales-clerks during a rush hour at the Heather that the girls are considering them as permanent counter cuties. However, when balmy spring breezes carry the scent of the golf course Johnny's way the arrangement will be broken up and Sally will assume her annual duty of caddying for John.
