1. Congratulations on your graduation from the United States Army Aviation School and appointment as a Warrant Officer. An Army aviation career offers broad opportunities as well as stimulating challenges and I feel confident that you will find it a richly rewarding profession.

2. I want to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation for the splendid job you did as Candidate Company Commander of WORNAC 72-13. Your application of leadership in this position was very noteworthy. I am aware of the extra hours and effort you put into this important task. Your willing and tireless execution of all assignments while serving in this position was a matter of favorable comment by all who observed your actions. The measure of your contribution is reflected in the successful tour you and your fellow classmates had as students at the United States Army Aviation School, not only from an academic and flight training point of view, but also from a social point of view. The performance of your class was testimony to your outstanding contributions.

3. Because of the leadership traits you displayed as Candidate Company Commander, I encourage you to work toward obtaining an appointment in the Regular Army. Should you consider making application, you may use a copy of this letter as my supporting recommendation for approval
