(U) PREFACE (U)

The introduction of the aerial TOW missile into the Vietnam conflict was a follow-on of USACDEC Experiment 43.6, Attack Helicopter - Daylight Defense. Equipment and personnel from this experiment were dispatched to RVN to further evaluate the airborne TOW. This report covers the operations and results of that evaluation.

A supplement to this report will be published as complete data becomes available. The proposed scope of this supplement is discussed in para. 1.5.

ANNEX A

(C) MISSION ANALYSIS (U)

1. (U) GENERAL. This annex contains digested information about each mission, and where possible about each missile fired on each mission. In some cases, especially on the early training missions, all the information was not collected. After-action reports, aircrew debriefing forms, commanding officer's notes, and other sources of information were used in compiling these summaries. Whenever possible, the final copy was checked for accuracy by a member of the flight crew who flew the mission.

2. (U) SCOPE. The format of the summary is a Mission Summary Form, which lists general facts about the overall mission, such as weather and nature of the threat force. When possible, this is followed by an Event Summary Form, one for each missile fired. It contains specific information concerning the particular missile, and the target at which it was fired.

Crew: Pilot/Gunner/Crew Chief: N.A.

Location:

Weather:

Mission: Testing of system

Threat Description: None

Summary of Engagement: One test missile was launched satisfactorily, but then went out of control due to system failure. (

Difficulties:

Hostile Fire Received:

- Other: 1) Missile system failed. Suspect hot climate had an adverse effect upon guidance.
2) Wire from missile went erratic and wrapped around swash plate of main rotor and tail rotor.

Action Taken:

- 1) Black boxes were moved to rear seat of AH and results were satisfactory thereafter.
- 2) New swash plate and master assembly required on AH.

Location: 10 miles south of Kontum

Weather:

Mission: Test firings.

Threat Description: None. Target was large rock.

Summary of Engagement: 5 missiles were fired by different crews. Three missiles missed due to excessive range of target (3300-3500 meters). Other two shots were in-range: they were perfect hits.

Difficulties:

Hostile Fire Received:

- Other:
- 1) Commo problems with other aircraft.
 - 2) Range estimation with target of undetermined size.

Recommendations:

- 1) Fix commo problem.
- 2) Consider installation of range finder.

Date: 3 May 1972

Time: night

A/H#: 553

Crew: Pilot/Gunner/Crew Chief:

Location:

Weather:

Mission: Training.

Threat Description: None.

Summary of Engagement: No missiles were fired but much useful information about night use of system was gained.

- 1) Much more night training needed.
- 2) Target best illuminated by two flares dropped over it from at least 2000 ft. AGL. Best illumination achieved after flare has been allowed to settle about 500' above target. Flare oscillation causes visual problems.
- 3) Shape and size of target at night are determining factors in detection.
- 4) Night acquisition procedures. Pilot plays no role (he must monitor gauges at all times). Gunner scans with sight at 13X.
- 5) Possible difficulty with gunner being blinded by flares.

Location: Open area

Weather: 5,000' scattered; visibility unrestricted

Mission: Training (low level firing)

Threat Description: 3-55 gallon drums.

Summary of Engagement: 2 missiles were fired at drums. Both were perfect hits (see event sheets).

Difficulties:

Hostile Fire Received:

- Other:
- 1) Commo problem still uncorrected.
 - 2) Wire cuts have to be manually performed by crew chief.
 - 3) Shot from right side of ship did not line up as fast as shot from left.
 - 4) Interference from weeds and bushes.

Recommendations: Fix commo problem.

Date: 5 May 1972

Time: 1540-1830

A/H#: 553

Crew: Pilot/Gunner/Crew Chief: Smith/Rowe/Lehrshall

Location: Poli Klang (23 km NNW of Kontum)

Weather: 5000'; scattered

Mission: Engage and destroy tanks in target area.

Threat Description: Tanks, appeared to be T-54's.

Summary of Engagement: UH-1B arrived in area and spotted two tanks. Gunner acquired one in sight but elected not to fire when another AH flew into his field of view. Targets were spotted several times thereafter, but thick jungle canopy made engagement impossible. TAC air was called in to attempt to uncover the tanks, but they were not sighted again. UH-1B returned to Pleiku.

Difficulties:

Hostile Fire Received: None

- Other:
- 1) Other aircraft in area.
 - 2) Targets acquired but out of maneuver limits for firing due to heavy foliage*.
 - 3) Dust and smoke from jet fighters and B-52 obscured vision.
 - 4) Aircraft vibrations extremely bad above 70 knots.

* Due to heavy foliage the targets were not detected until the AH was almost directly over them. Subsequent firing was not feasible since targets disappeared into jungle.

Summary of Engagement: No tanks were detected in area

Difficulties:

Hostile Fire Received: C&C took AK-47 fire.

Other: Quoting from the gunner CW2 Rowe: "Again one of the problems was the heavy foliage in the area. You had to look directly down, and this causes the ground to pass by fairly quickly, causing extreme difficulty in referencing the area you are looking at. Also, if you do see anything you are too close to the sight limits to get a second look."

Location: Rolling hills 20 km north of Pleiku

Weather: 15,000' scattered, visibility 7 miles

Mission: Destroy log bridge that was being used as a tank crossing by the NVA.

Threat Description: None

Summary of Engagement: Helicopter arrived in area and fired 4 missiles. First 2 missiles missed due to IR source not being acquired by guidance control. 3rd missile hit and destroyed bridge. 4th missile hit and destroyed abandoned truck in area. AH returned to base.

Difficulties:

Hostile Fire Received: None

Other: 1) Trees and foliage obstructed the targets at maximum range and 1200' AGL. Some difficulty encountered on initial acquisition of truck which was in a small clearing and difficult to locate with the unaided eye or low power optics at low angle slant range.

2) Interference from AH movement was also present.

Location: Bien Het, 15 NW of Kontum

Weather: 2000 broken, visibility 3 miles, by 1400 hrs. 3500 scattered, visibility 10 miles

Mission: To engage and destroy enemy tanks engaged in a major attack on Bien Het Ranger Base.

Threat Description: Infantry, armor, and AA weapons.

Summary of Engagement: 1st time out both escort Cobra's were hit; one shot down. UH-1B went in search pattern until forced to re-fuel. 2nd time out search without success while Air Force worked over surrounding area. 3rd time out, tank was acquired and destroyed. Returned to home base when fuel started running low.

Difficulties:

Hostile Fire Received: Small arms and heavy auto

- Other:
- 1) Low ceiling in morning made target acquisition difficult.
 - 2) No commo with ground forces due to limited FM radios. Made understanding of tactical situation difficult.
 - 3) Weather was overall very bad: haze, rain, etc.
 - 4) Organizational problems with support guns on 2nd run.

Crew: Pilot/Gunner/Crew Chief: Smith/Rowe/Evans

Location: WNW and NW of Kontum (coord. 111979)

Weather: hazy

Mission: To engage and destroy tanks in area.

Threat Description: Possible tanks

Summary of Engagement: Upon arriving at first site (coord 111979) a search for tanks was conducted and none were located. However, a POL dump was located and fired at by UH-1B (1 missile) and followed up with Cobra support. Refueling accomplished at Kontum followed by search for 130mm tube NNE of Kontum with no results. AH returned to home base.

Difficulties:

Hostile Fire Received:

- Other:
- 1) Firing had to be accomplished at high angle which caused tracking difficulties (see event sheet)
 - 2) Trees surrounding target produced interfering shadows
 - 3) Vegetation around target was cause of necessary high attack angle.

Other: The high angle caused tracking problems. The nose was pushed over at 30 kn and A/S was 80 kn when recovery made. When AH was pulled out of dive at low altitude, gunner had difficulty keeping target sight; as a result missile became slightly erratic but target was still hit.

During this time, 3 missiles were fired at suspected camouflaged tanks, 3 at 1 known tank, and 1 last missile at a suspected camouflaged tank. AH forced to return to base because of darkness.

Difficulties:

Hostile Fire Received: Machine gun from tank.

- Other:
