Scope & Content

This series consists of the operational records of the battalion-sized and smaller U.S. Army infantry units that fought in the Vietnam War. These records may include organizational histories, newspaper clippings, photographs, daily journals, after action reports, operational reports lessons learned, situation reports, general orders, operation planning records, and intelligence summaries. Generally, these records reflect the activities of the units themselves and not individuals within the units. Personal names are usually not included in these records. The records were maintained by the U.S. Army Vietnam/U.S. Military Assistance Command Vietnam Support Command.

Scope & Content

This series consists of the operational records of the group-sized and smaller aviation units who fought in the Vietnam War. These records may include organizational histories, intelligence reports, intelligence summaries, operational reports-lessons learned, command reports, newspaper clippings, photographs, daily journals, situation reports, accident reports, general orders, and operation planning records. Generally, these records reflect the activities of the units themselves and not individuals within the units. Personal names are usually not included in these records, except in the case of general orders. The records were maintained by the U.S. Army Vietnam/U.S. Military Assistance Command Vietnam Support Command.

Scope & Content

This series consists of the operational records of the U.S. Army squadron-sized and smaller cavalry units who fought in the Vietnam War. These records may include organizational histories, intelligence reports, intelligence summaries, operational reports-lessons learned, command reports, newspaper clippings, photographs, daily journals, situation reports, accident reports, general orders, and operation planning records. Generally, these records reflect the activities of the units themselves and not individuals within the units. Personal names are usually not included in these records, except in the case of general orders. The records were maintained by the U.S. Army Vietnam/U.S. Military Assistance Command Vietnam Support Command.
