

UNIT HISTORY

The 179th Aviation Assault Company has had a fine record since arriving in the Central Highlands of Viet Nam, at Camp Holloway, Plei Me. The company was set up on TO&E record September of 1966. It was moved to Nam in November of 1966, to final in Pleiku, II Corps area, in December 1966. From this time on, the company set forth records of achievement that would make any Aviation Company proud.

Being the only inland CH-47 Chinook Company, the 179th has been instrumental in all of the major offensives in the II Corps area. There has been an average of four major assaults a year that have been supported by the courageous pilots of "SHRIMPBOAT" company. The "SHRIMPBOAT"s have operated south in the areas of Thout, It was involved in the operations at Vu Prang, assisting in the resupply and support of the infantry and artillery units. Onto the north, there was Doc Seiang, and Doc Pek, where bitter fighting cost the lives of many men & aircraft. It was one of the "SHRIMPBOAT" aircraft that first crossed into Cambodia for the initial assault of that operation. Many tons of food and weapons were brought back and given to the Vietnamese by the CH-47's. The aircraft and crews worked many long hours, resupplying the fire support bases with the necessary ammunition.

Working in the II Corps with professionalism was worthwhile in that the company has a safety record of which it is highly jealous. At present, the Chinook has over twenty safe flying months and over 16,000 hours without accident. The 179th is not out to set records, but to show a professional attitude in its operations is the support role, fulfilling its mission to the units in the II Corps.

At present, the "SHRIMPBOAT" Company is assigned sixteen CH-47-C Chinooks. The 179th was the first company to be supplied with all 'C' model Chinooks. This requirement had to be met because of the Higher Density Altitude in the Central Highlands.
