192nd AHC Killed in Action

This document is the first draft of a book of information about the men that served with the 192nd Assault Helicopter Company at one point in their Vietnam tour(s) and lost their lives in the service of their country.

Several of the men on this list died while serving with other aviation companies. These are noted on the pages for those men. Also there were men who were killed while riding as passengers in 192nd AHC aircraft. These are listed in Appendix A.

This is a work in progress and this version was put together for the Charleston, SC reunion, November 2021.

This document corrects the spelling of some names that have appeared in other lists of the KIA from the 192nd and the passengers that were KIA in 192nd Aircraft. If there are additional revisions, comments or errors please let Jim Godfrey know.

Future editions will have information about the missions or circumstances of the loss of these individuals.

Enthusiastic Soldier Dies in Vietnam

By JOE HURLEY

CHELSEA — There was no joy in Douglas Lyford's voice when he said he was one of the lucky ones.

The Chelsea man returned home from Vietnam Friday to learn that his neighbor, Spec. 5 Francis P. Thompson, had been killed in action at Phan Thiet, Vietnam, one week earlier.

Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Thompson, said Francis was likable and put himself entirely into whatever he did. But that only begins to tell the story.

He was graduated from Chelsea schools as one of the most popular students in his class. "I couldn't think of two bad words about him if I wanted to," said Bernard Downing, a Chelsea resident and one of Thompson's best friends.

A typical teen-ager, he loved athletics and cars. His pride and joy was the auto he had bought two months before he was drafted. "He loved to hunt and was on the high school baseball team," remarked Lyford.

If he ever worried about being in a war-torn country Thompson never mentioned it. His parents got a letter Monday and the tone was, as always, happy.

He was drafted in 1967, since he was interested in electronics, he was granted an immediate discharge so he could volunteer in the field of his choice.

The fact this meant spending an extra year in the service did not seem to bother Thompson, in fact his friends said he was enthusiastic about his future military life.

Evidently the enthusiasm had not faded. Thompson had recently signed for an additional six-month tour of duty.

Chelsea Soldier Killed In Action

CHELSEA — A 21-year-old Chelsea serviceman has been reported killed in action in Vietnam.

Spec. 5 Francis P. Thompson, son of Cecil and Eva (Keyes) Thompson, who live on Route 113, near the Chelsea-Vermont town line, have been informed their only son was killed in action at Phan Thiet a week ago.

He was born Nov. 25, 1947 in the former Barre City Hospital and had lived in Chelsea all his life. He attended local schools and was a graduate of Chelsea High School.

For a time after graduation he was employed at the Walter Kennedy Garage and also by the HEB Manufacturing Co. in Chelsea.

During his junior high years, he played basketball and was known for his enjoyment of hunting and working on automobiles.

In December 1967, he entered U.S. Army and was trained in electronics schools. Eleven months after his military service began, he was sent overseas and was engaged in electronics maintenance on aircraft in Vietnam. He had recently signed for an additional six-months tour of duty.

Funeral arrangements are pending arrival of the body.

Besides his parents, he leaves his maternal grandmother, in Brookfield; an aunt, Mrs. Harold Luce, Chelsea; four uncles, Kenneth Thompson, Williamstown; Floyd Thompson, Plainfield and others in Brookfield and Burlington.
