The Wall

It was a day to remember
Standing at "The Wall".
That black granite was glistening
In the early days of fall.

The names of all those boys
That vanished in the war.
Makes you stand and wonder
What was it really for.

You were hated upon returning
From that land so far away.
And all those lives seemed
Wasted until this very day.

Now the Country tries to tell us
They are sorry for our grief.
This is a help to some
But not a complete relief.

So the tears they keep flowing
As I look upon "The Wall".
For all those men that perished
I promise I'll always recall.

We would like to Thank You for attending the 16th Annual Jumping Mustang Reunion. We've had a lot of fun putting this together and hope you have enjoyed your visit to the Great Northwest.

We would also Thank: The Valley DoubleRree Hotel for all their help.

The Northwest Treasure Hunters Club of Spokane for the loan of the sound system.

Also all others that assisted however great or small, and answering our questions, sometimes more then once.

Your Hosts

Randy and Yvonne Howard
