Dear Sir:

I have previously been insured with your company with a major medical and life insurance plan offered as a benefit while an employee of Air America Inc. ( Policy No: GAH-1344)

Due to a reduction in force I have separated from Air America and subsequently have accepted a position with Great China Airlines. As with Air America Great China offers protection against line of duty injuries for its employees. The company does not offer a company sponsored family major medical plan, nor am I covered for injuries incurred off the job.

I have studied your company plan thoroughly and was pleased with my portfolio. Since Great China is wholly owned by chinese and the majority of its employees are indiginous a company plan is not feasible.

I consider a family major medical plan not only wise but necessary. It would therefore be in my best interest as an alternative to acquire a individule plan.

I have access to several highly qualified hospitals, including U.S. Military, in the Taipei area. Should your company offer a individule plan I am prepared to present to you physical examinations, certified professional opinions or any other documents required to determine the health and ~~status~~ condition of each member of my immediate family. Physicent

In the event that you do not offer a individule plan your assistance in referring me to another company would be appreciated.

Yours truly,

A.E. Gates
