Dear Admiral Zumwalt;

I hope this letter finds you well. I just wanted to ask if you received a copy of my report on combat motivation in naval forces? I sent it a few months ago. If so, I'd be interested to know what you think of it. Admirals Kelso, Miller, and Kelly quite liked it. If you didn't receive it, let me know and I'll send another. Hope to hear from you soon!

Yours aye,

Roger

Dear Roger:

Thank you for your fax of November 8. A review of our files indicates that we did not receive a copy of your combat motivation report.

Sincerely,

E. R. Zumwalt, Jr.

Dear Admiral Zumwalt;

Thanks for your letter dated 13 November 96. I guess the report on combat motivation was lost in the mail. I'll send you another copy on Friday, and with luck, you should have it before Christmas. Incidentally, I just accepted a position as a Technical Writer with Lexis Document Services in Springfield, Illinois. I'll relocate stateside in mid-January. It's been a while since I last visited the U.S., although I lived and attended high school in Granada Hills, California. California is your home state, isn't it?

Best wishes for the holidays!

Roger
