ADMIRAL ZUMWALT:

It was enjoyable seeing you again last night, and I would like to reiterate that I would be pleased to assist you in anyway I can, including participating with you on the Agronsky program (even if it is necessary to make the trip at personal expense).

Attached is a very rough copy of my article on Schlesinger-Kissinger and the SALT violations for a forthcoming issue of National Review. For some reason, I did not have the more polished version with me.

If you have not already seen it, I would suggest your looking at perhaps my strongest statement on SALT and Kissinger, my lead-off address to the 6th International Arms Control Conference, Nov 73, entitled "Political & Negotiating Asymmetries: Insult in SALT." It is now published in a book edited by Pfaltzgraff, Contrasting Approaches to Strategic Arms Control. Perhaps I can find a copy for you by Monday. Attached also

Warm regards,

Bill Van Cleave
