FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Savannah, Georgia, March 2, 1977 . . . Great Dane Trailers, Inc., a subsidiary of Transway International Corporation and one of the nation's largest manufacturers of dry van and refrigerated highway and piggyback trailers, announced it will build an $8 million addition to its new Brazil, Indiana, plant. The newly constructed Brazil facility, located 50 miles southwest of Indianapolis, went into production in late 1975.

The 150,000-square-foot addition will be utilized for the construction of refrigerated trailers. Ground breaking is scheduled for the Spring 1977 with estimated completion in late 1978. The addition will permit increased total trailer production at Brazil to 24 dry freight and refrigerated trailers daily. Only dry freight units are currently built at the Brazil plant. An additional 200 workers will be employed when the facility attains capacity production.

Great Dane, founded in 1900, maintains its principal plant in Savannah and has a third plant in Memphis, Tennessee, for the production of platform trailers. The company became a subsidiary of Transway in 1967. In 1976, Great Dane almost doubled revenues over those reported in 1975 and, in addition, set a new record for operating profits.
