Dear Admiral:

Texas Tech University is preparing a video to highlight the new International Cultural Center when it is completed in February 1996. The film makers are particularly seeking someone to discuss the Vietnam connection with the new International Cultural Center, and pending your assent, I have suggested that you would be the most appropriate person to do that.

The film people plan to be in Washington toward the end of August, and they estimate that it probably would take between one and two hours to set up their equipment at your office and actually shoot the segment. They would provide a script which would serve as a guideline (and which I would forward to you in advance for your approval).

I don't yet have the precise dates, but should the dates be convenient for you, would you agree to produce this segment for us?

Very respectfully,

James R. Reckner
Director
