Hi

Well it took me 27 hrs. to get here but I finally made it. 20 of the hours was spent in the air. We had to make a forced landing at some small air strip ca 100 miles from Guam. We circled the base that we were supposed to land at for two hours and went to the other as a last resort. We hit a Typhoon and you talk about a wild ride wow.

The air conditioning on the plane would go off and on. Now I have one Hell of a cold.

I leave for my first job Tomorrow morning its filming Thai Volunteers for Viet Nam. I hope I do a good job on it.

If I stayed in a Hotel like this in the states it would cost around a Hundred and fifty a week. All of our laundry is done free every day.

The people really treat you nice and they will do anything they can for you. I bought a Swiss watch Saturday it cost me Twelve Dollars.

I have had ~~three~~^{Three} Steam baths and massages since we've been here. They are really nice.

The girls a real cute they really fascinate me I really like it here, it so beautiful

I have just about finished Mandingo I don't know why I didn't read it before. I really want to read the ones that follow it.

The guy I came over here with lives in Okinawa. His father is stationed there. Well anyway I am going to stop off with him and take a five day leave with him.

You can have a Steak for one dollar drinks are a quarter, cigarettes eleven cents and a quart of calverts a dollar forty. How do you like those prices?

How are things back home?

Tell Joany congratulations
when you see her.

We are going out tonight and have steak. I have been eating a lot of oriental dishes
I am quite proficient at chop sticks well its goodbye
Love Too
