Another high speed, N-S trl vic XD965340 was fd that appeared to have been dug with a plow for approx 40 meters and then packed down by foot. The plt fd approx 25 new bunkers 3x5x4' spread out along either side of the stream that runs from XD966338 to XD966334. None of the bkr's were older than 3 weeks and none of these bunkers had been damaged by bombs. The plt turned back to the N at XD966334 and followed the trl. Vic XD965341 plt fd a dug cut area 15 meters across and 12 meters deep in the side of the hill. The cut was 5' deep at the back of the shelf. There were 2 bkr's on the S side of the cut 20 meters apart, 1 bkr on the N side and 1 bkr to the W of the cut 25 meters up the hill. This area was camouflaged and the materials used was no older than 48 hours. The plt thinks this dug cut area was possibly the beginnings of a large CP bunker or cache site.
