

Touching Gesture

IT WAS A QUICK and poignant thing. Army Capt. William S. Reeder, among former Vietnam POWs on a stopover in Hawaii, on their way to the States, was walking along a fence separating the returnees from welcomers when an unidentified woman just reached out from the crowd and for a touching moment tenderly cradled his face in her hands. Alert Navy photographer Carl R. Begy caught it on film.

OLIPHANT

'THAT'S THE LAST OF THE PRISONERS . . . NOW, WHERE'S ALL THE MONEY TO REBUILD NORTH VIETNAM?'