The speakers have recently returned from a Regional Conference on health programs in Southeast Asia. This conference was held in Bangkok, Thailand, and was attended by the Chiefs of the Public Health Divisions of ECA Missions in the Region, other officials of the Economic Cooperation Administration and representatives of the World Health Organization and International Children's Emergency Fund. Enroute to and from the Conference the speakers visited health missions in Southeast Asian countries.

Dr. Kline also served as the United States Observer at the Regional Meeting of the World Health Organization in Manila from September 18 through September 21.
